

Clifford T. Ward, Mr. Bilbo Baggins

Far over the misty mountains
To dungeons deep and caverns old
We must away at break of day
To find our long forgotten gold.

Over the misty mountains cold
To dungeons deep and caverns old
We must away at break of day
To find our long forgotten gold.

In days of old when dragons roared
And smaller folk than us were abroad
The mighty wizard Gandalf planned
Adventures for his friends.

There was Thorin Oakenshield, Balin,
Dwalin, Kili, Fili and Dori too
And bringing up the rear guess who
Mr. Bilbo Baggins.

Over the misty mountains cold
To dungeons deep and caverns old
We must away at break of day
To find our long forgotten gold.

Far over the misty mountains
Across the great wide river they went
Through Mirkwood fighting the elves
And goblins and spiders huge and violent.

There was Ori, Nori, and Oin and Gloin
And Bifur, Bofur and Bombur too

And trailing far behind guess who
Mr. Bilbo Baggins.

Over the misty mountains cold
To dungeons deep and caverns old
We must away at break of day
To find our long forgotten gold.
