

Coheed And Cambria, The End Complete IV: The

I believed, in the world right in front of me,
But now, along these empty streets.
Where this curse haunts these memories,
Of a man and all he's lost.

No time to think about it. No room to breathe.

If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

Tonight you'll sleep.
No fear of what might become of me, my dear.
Within these end of days,
Where this longing turns this man to prey
On a love that yearns to die.

No time to live and doubt it
Girl, I'm worth the second chance. (What have I done?)
No time to think about it, no room to breathe.

If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

I believed in the world once in front of me, well now that's gone.

If I had a way back, I'd ride through the dark and the dawn
(But please don't wait for me)
Because the man you love don't live anymore.
I can't go home again.

Bye, goodbye. Bye, goodbye
Bye, goodbye, bye. Bye goodbye, my dear.
