Coheed And Cambria, The Faint Of Heart Acoust

With the worries that i'd give for her and she told the worst of me
My wanting to just hold her head in my arms and feel her breathe
No, im not going to give you want so if you please
The sin that shapes your voice carries, my ears, this new disease

Did somebody take your tongue?
In worries of the words that you couldn't say, that you couldn't save them from
But i don't want to sleep without, so i bid to you, goodnight,
Tonight, sleep tight, my love

The anxious through the calming storm, you'll sit as you pray for rain
I'll touch it if ask me to but how is up to you
No, i'm not going to let you get up if you struggle willingly
I'll savour all your form to show you how and where i bleed

Did somebody take your tongue?
In worries of the words that you couldn't say, that you wouldn't save them from
But i don't want to sleep without, so i bid to you, goodnight,
Tonight, sleep tight, my love

You were so well behaved
As you watched them make your way
A kiss for you engraved
You shift and stretch your legs
You were so well behaved
You were so well...
Who taught these tricks that make...you were so well behaved

If the world stops turning girl you better not stop when i say
And there was nothing you could do to cut me, cut me down
If the ground starts parting through the silence and the walk of the dead
Everything here dies alone...

But i'm not quite sure what you've been told...on labor day
Ooh, i'm not starting with you but the faint of heart
Were worries way
But i'm not quite sure what this unfolds...on labor day
Ooh, i'm not starting with you but the faint of heart

Did somebody take your tongue?
In worries of the words that you couldn't say, that you wouldnt save them from
But i don't want to sleep without, so i bid to you, goodnight,
Tonight, sleep tight, my love

Did somebody take your tongue?
In worries of the words that you couldn't say, that you wouldn't save them from
But i don't want to sleep without so i bid to you, goodnight,
Tonight, sleep tight, my love
