Colbie Caillat, Older

Waited all my life for this day to come
I feel like letting go, life goes on
Wasting no more time
So much to be done
Everything works out
So they say
Over my shoulder, it's tough getting older
Yeah, yeah......

(Chorus)

Seems like nothing is black and white anymore Shades of grey and I feel a weight over my shoulder It's tough getting older I always thought that I knew where I'd want to go Now I'm here and I find that I'm still getting colder It's kinda tough getting older

Here before my eyes, many roads ahead Time for me to choose one way now If I take a chance What lies down the road Feeling so confused, turned round On and on, on and on yeah yeah.....

Seems like nothing is black and white anymore Shades of grey and I feel a weight over my shoulder It's tough getting older I always thought that I knew where I'd want to go Now I'm here and I find that I'm still getting colder It's kinda tough getting older

Waited all my life for this day to come I feel like letting go, life goes on Over my shoulder (on and on) It's tough getting older (on and on, on) Yeah, yeah.....

Seems like nothing is black and white anymore Shades of grey and I feel a weight over my shoulder It's tough getting older I always thought that I knew where I'd want to go Now I'm here and I find that I'm still getting colder It's kinda tough getting older

Seems like nothing is black and white anymore Shades of grey and I feel a weight over my shoulder It's tough getting older
