Coldplay, Life In Technicolor II

There's a wild wind blowing Down the corner of my street Every night there are headlights glowing

There's a cold war coming On the radio I heard Baby it's a violent world

Oh, love, don't let me go Won't you take me where the streetlights glow I can hear it coming I can hear the siren sound Now my feet won't touch the ground

Time came a-creeping Oh and time's a loaded gun (Every road is a ray of light)

It goes o-o-o-o-n Time only can lead you on Still it's such a beautiful night

Oh love, don't let me go Won't you take me where the streetlights glow I can hear it coming Like a serenade of sound Now my feet won't touch the ground

Gravity released me And won't ever hold me down Now my feet won't touch the ground
