

color blue, maybe someday

It's no wonder I feel best at night though it cuts me deepest Eyes are shimmering while searching for new hopes
The end blends with the new beginning
So you can wake up again, but I guess I'd still be dreaming

Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday
Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday

Inner conversations 'bout self-control make me lose some air to breathe
Seeing your hands covered in a moonlight, that's all I need
Make me feel the cold air in my lungs tonight
Take me somewhere far away, somewhere high

Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday
Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday

Watching blood spilled on the skyline, lying with you
That's all I'd love to do
I'd like to hide in your arms, bury myself in the dark
Maybe someday
Maybe someday
Maybe someday
Maybe someday
Maybe someday

Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday
Dark, dark blue sky soaks through my fingers
I'd love you to become this blue sky someday, someday

I'd love you to become this blue sky someday