

Conchita Wurst, Trash All The Glam

on the rocks my being's cut in half I feel under glass don't look at me I'm over-
and underwhelmed cover
all the stares and trash all the glam just trash all the glam,
'cause

ahw hs come here unleash a dream mounted with a view within shinging the way in peace she leads bit by bit it starts she overdoes and undermines her polish seeking for the truth within and covering her shine she's running dry and desparately is calling for resistance here in no way she can keep this fallen illusion now alive so she is dropping pretence way more complex no more sequence she delates ans trashes all the glam trash all the glam, trash all the

on the rocks my being's cut in half
I feel under glass
don't look at me I'm over-
and underwhelmed cover
all the stares and trash all the glam
just trash all the glam,
'cause

I habe come here to be me in peace but settings seemed to disagree views too dull too obsolete, still succeed obstinately I proceed in constant need of poetry to heal my broken dreas and give me light on gloome streets I feel the more I trust In me the brighter all my colors be and followed by the likes of me I dare to café and to complete I go and tear to shreds all canting prayers I cut off hands that hold me back I'm trashing all the glam

trash all the glam,
trash all the glam,