

Connie Smith, Don't Feel Sorry For Me

I've still got my memories of you at least I know they won't find someone new My tears are faithful company that's more than you would be
So don't feel sorry for me
I can hold a photograph of you and kiss two lips I know won't be untrue
A picture can't tell lies to me while it's smiling tenderly
So don't feel sorry for me
I've got walls to lean on when I cry this hurt can only last until I die
And in my dreams I'll always see the you that used to be
So don't feel sorry for me
And in my dreams I'll always see the you that used to be
So don't feel sorry for me
