

Convey, Campaign Speech

Whatever you do don't make a sound,
They're in the ground.

And I... have nothing else to lose,
Because I've got a mind for disaster now.
But at least I know when the flood gates break, when the worms invade,
When the worms invade!

Waking up the world
To a startling surprise,
A striking premonition
Of humanity's demise.

You can't get any sleep,
They're hiding in the streets,
But with your support,
You can rely on me.

How can I
Awake from the daydream?
How can I
Awake from the spell?
How can I
Awake from the daydream?
And have a soul to tell?
And have a soul to tell?

When I make
My address to
The United States of American Voters,
Practically screaming to their ears:

You can't get any sleep,
They're hiding in the streets,
But with your support,
You can rely on me.

How can I
Awake from the daydream?
How can I
Awake from the spell?
How can I
Awake from the daydream?
And have a soul to tell?
And have a soul to tell?

How can I
How can I
Awake from the daydream?
How can I
Awake from the spell?
How can I
Awake from the daydream?
How can I
Awake from the spell?
How can I
Awake from the daydream?
And have a soul to tell?
And have a soul to

Whatever you do don't make a sound,
They're in the ground.

And I... have nothing else to lose,

Because I've got a mind for disaster now.
But at least I know when the flood gates break, when the worms invade,
When the worms invade!
