

Corey Hart, Break The Chain

does it ever end, tell me? does it ever change colour does it ever start feeling better while the rains keep reminding me does it ever heal, show me will it ever rise higher than all the secret pain hurting everything I only want to know love

Break the chain
Break the chain

can I draw the moon sleeping can I paint the sky speaking all the silent words louder, louder still free the universe

Break the chain
Break the chain
I only want to know love

when I lose my way, find me when I am afraid, soothe me when I cut I bleed, touch me truth is everything I believe in

Break the chain
Break the chain

I can run wild raise my arms reaching for the open sky I belong here where the light is strong I will lay my body down imagine all the flowers again
break the chain