

Craig's Brother, Falling Out

I'm sure you're in a lot of pain,
But it's supposed to feel this way
I never did this to you
Despite the beauty we create
I just can't stand beneath your weight
I don't know what to do
I sure you need a helping hand
But you're stuck in sinking sand
And you're pulling me in with you
Look at the mess you drug me through
Look at the pity you pursue
I falling out with you

Help me I falling out with you

So make my instincts leave me be Cause I don't want to fight or flee
But there's not much more you can take from me
Despite the pleasure we invoke
I so sick of being broke
Will it hurt this much when I broken free?

Well I try but I can't understand why I have to hold your hand
Every step of the way, day after day, you depend on my strength to pull you through
But I just as weak as you
