

Cranes, Let Go

Like all our love that comes to an end
A flame of our love, a flame without end
We touch awhile, say Goodbye again
Here's to love and our scattered friends...

On top of the world... our day without end, the hope in your heart is starting to mend
And you know where you are at this time in your life,
Under your Star and it's shining so bright..

Here's the love
On which we depend
Here's to love
And our scattered friends