Cree Summer, Life Goes On

You must think like goes on forever The way you bide your time The way you talk too much The way you stop trying

You believe life goes on forever The way that the sun sets The way you feed the fear The way that you regress

Life after life goes on until it bors you to a death Even more frightening than being alive You pretend life goes on forever and a day wasting away

You must think like goes on forever The way you let it slip away The way you hide the way you feel The way you don't feel what you say

Life after life goes on down the road you've walked before Catering to the complacent habit forming insecure May the circle be unbroken By and by Lord By and by

You must think life goes on forever The way you stay the very same Life forever pass it on won't you tell your friends To keep running to the future While running from the end The end
