

Creed, Pity For A Dime

An artificial season covered by summer rain
Losing all my reason cause there's nothing left to blame

Shadows paint the sidewalk a living picture in a frame
See the sea of people all their faces look the same

Chorus:

So I sat down for a while forcing a smile
In a state of self denial is it worth while
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime

Plain talk can be the easy way
Signs of losing my faith
Losing my faith

Plain talk can be the easy way
Signs of losing my faith
Losing my faith

Chorus:

So I sat down for a while yeah forcing a smile
in a state of self denial yeah is it worth while
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime

Sellin sellin my pity for a dime, and another man take my soul

So I sat down for a while yeah forcing a smile
in a state of self denial yeah is it worth while
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime
Sell my pity for a dime, yeah just one dime

Sellin sellin my pity for a dime, and another man take my soul
