

Crimson Glory, Lonely

She awakens from a dream to a silent room where shadows speak of memories Another sleepless night, afraid to face the day
It seems so long ago she shared the love she feels so deep inside Her love will never die but still she feels so lonely...

Lonely in Love

She wakes up to another day with everything going wrong She wonders where she would be if she had ever seen his face She turns on the radio, but it's playing that same old song She's pouring another drink to drown away the memory of it all She can't wait another night

Take another day

She doesn't want to be

Lonely in Love

There's a feeling she can't explain that no one can understand She just needs to get away but there's nowhere that she can go Tomorrow's so far away She's longing for yesterday
If she could just turn back time
She wants to leave the world behind
She can't wait another night

Take another day

She doesn't want to be

Lonely in Love

The night will fade, the sun will shine a new day
And light the way for you to find
New Love
