

Crimson Glory, Song For Angels

Innocence is fragile like the wind
Cold hearts can tear it down
It's hard to find some sanctuary
I know you're feelin' like the world
Is on your shoulders
And you won't survive if it gets any colder
Angels- wait for tomorrow
Before you smile you gotta cry sometimes
Angels- a new day will follow
Even angels need to learn how to fly
Liste close to the child inside you
Beggin' to be set free
you've lost your way
And your heart is needing shelter
I know you feel the walls are Closing all around
Hold on, it won't be long
Before you break 'em down
Angels- wait for tomorrow
Before you smile you gotta cry sometimes
Angels- a new day will follow
Even angels need to learn how to fly
Believe in all you dreams
And reach for the sky
So hard all alone
Fightin' thru the pain
Some day you'll stand up
Straong and unafraid
And then you'll see the sun
Right behind the rain
Spread your wings
Angels- wait for tomorrow
Before you smile you gotta cry sometimes
Angels- a new day will follow
Even angels need to learn how to fly
