

Crosby & Nash, Don't Dig Here

written by James Raymond, Russ Kunkel And Graham Nash

I hope you're coming in peace with good intentions I've got something to say that might save your soul this sign is a warning so pay attention open up the earth you could lose control this place is full of shit that kills maybe us and maybe you, it's true you can dig for diamonds in the dust and you can dig forever if you must but if you dig this mountain high and clear there's much to fear

just don't dig here

we considered ourselves a powerful culture the bully pulpit waved the flag on high we feasted on the carrion like vultures across the land the bones were piling high against the sky

then we filled the mountain to the brim sealed it in, just don't pull the pin

but if you dig this mountain high and clear
there's much to fear

but if you dig this mountain high and clear in the atmosphere
just don't dig here
