

Crosby & Nash, Shining On Your Dreams

written by Graham Nash And Russ Kunkel daylight coming much too soon up all night with the moon in my eyes shining down on my dreams nothing's really ever what it seems thoughts are coming much too fast holding back tears that lasted so long falling down on my dreams wondering what it really means when the moon comes shining on your dreams home is where the heart is mama used to say, no matter where you roam feeling so different in each and every way but I'm finding my way back home seek a higher purpose daddy used to say

feeling so different in each and every way
but I'm finding my way back home

clouds are clearing, moving on come together, all as one, like family open up and believe that the moon will come shining on your dreams yes, the moon will come shining on your dreams