

Crossfade, Already Gone

I will not leave a letter nothing at all Im sure you wont notice that Im even gone

I wont break this silence weve shared for so long

I will be strong....

I will not leave a letter nothing at all Im sure you wont notice that Im even gone

why did I stay here stay for so long when were so far gone

I feel so stupid taking this fall

I should have seen it known all along wont break the silence weve shared for so long

I will be strong

What could you possibly want from me cant you see Im already gone when everything we thought wed be I still dont feel sorry for this loss

I will not waste a moment thinking these thoughts forgetting comes easy I never cared at all hurt became hate and now Im feelin the strain theres just too much pain fell into pieces got swept away left all our pictures some to fade wont break this silence weve shared for so long

I will be strong

What could you possibly want from me cant you see Im already gone everything we thought we'd b

You dont have to say anything at all

I wont stop you from walking away Ill do nothing at all

Sitting here I waste a day while the memories fade away you know I expected so much more from