

Cruiserweight, Elephant

no more rewards when we fight but i was taken just the other night to the circus show entertainment at it's finest expectations of a great night and what a magnificent sight it was but inside my heart the glamour was fading

what the world needs now is to take this blindfold off was i lied to cause this question's been suspended but it's catching up with you i can't believe it was I betrayed - oh, to my dismay so confined, he confided that nothing ever made his eyes shine at the circus show where did all the happiness go and if you think the world is a bicycle built for only you well, brother this big top, no it never seemed so low now i'm standing on my soapbox shouting at the world and my question's never been answered but tonight i will not falter - so tell me was i betrayed