Crushead, Cuts Like A Knife

Intentionally, unintentionally, how many times have I hurt others. Wanted or unwanted, how many times have I been hurt by others. W rong words spoken at wrong time can destroy friendships. Just a few words misunderstood can cause quarrels and civil war Some see it coming Some let it pass Just like a monster Behind a mask consciously or unconsciously. wanted or unwanted, words heard can destroy your life or build it up to the power of five Words can express true crux of the matter, Words can be just empty husks Will you realize what it takes To show your face that's now in shade Some see it coming Some let it pass Just like a monster Behind a mask And when it reaches Its hand to you Will you get stronger Or be a fool

Words can hurt and words can destroy Words can heal and restore So don't you treat others like toys They want to know it all

It takes more, more than just a smile This cuts, cuts you like a knife To get, get into your head How people really deal with words They're still talking in the dark This is tearing me apart Just try, to tell me what you mean And what you really think of me

Words can hurt...

What is said in God's word is surely true, it can change and transform everyone.

Words can hurt...
