Curve, Backwards Glance

With a backwards glance I said goodbye Saw the regret in your eyes It's to late now to change the truth While were living under the same roof Its a ruse of yours To alter perception Manipulate a violent situation For your own gain

With my tits in the air I'm strong and proud You'll see me laughing out loud On a crowded street In the summer heat

We'll all be there So come and share Its a ruse of yours To alter perception Manipulate a vital situation To your own gain And your own needs And your own fear And your own tears

Seek and destroy Smile and obey

Its a ruse of yours To spoil perfection Manipulate a violent situation For your own gain And your own needs And your own fear And your own tears

Seek and destroy Smile and obey.