Dan Fogelberg, Comes & Goes

The woman's like the night She comes and goes She breaks my heart each day And never knows, And the time I spend in sorrow Will match the time I live And the time that's left is All I have to give.

The woman's like an ivy on a pole She wraps her twisted love around my soul

There will come a sudden winter When she'll seek the warmth of day And there'll come a time when she will come to stay.

The woman's like the tide
She comes and goes
She knows the things that I can just suppose.
And the time I spend in sorrow
Will match the time that she laughs
And the songs I sing cannot explain but half.
