

Daniel Powter, Negative Fashion

A teenager's dream is on the sea
Came to blows your mind
Drop the way for goodness safety
To make the recover just on time
Leave your excess baggage
All they can resell
You hope to stay you long enough
For anyone to tell

A little bit crazy but you get back
And no one seems to care what's on your mind

You don't know you're at from wrong
But you know you're halfway gone
In a negative fashion

So much more to be
Every star that raise the sun
Baby you know you're the one
In a negative fashion

So much more to see
You don't have to answer to anyone
All that is left for you is what you've become

Coz after all the pushing that you've been through
You don't need all the lights to shine for you

You don't know you're at from wrong
But you know you're halfway gone
In a negative fashion

So much more to be
Every star that raise the sun
Baby you know you're the one
In a negative fashion

So much more to see
You don't have to answer to anyone
All you need is watch you having fun
Now let's left coz just beyond all that have gone
