

Danity Kane, Picture This

Picture this after a thousand words said we still couldn't undersand what was in each others heads complete content some rised to sunset so fly like stars,you were everything i wish for but yet you made time to speak your mind if i wasn't pleasing you,took my love in vain i was bleeding only one night i held your pillow close wishin i was squeezing you,it's crazy we can only see the bad times when were together and remeber the good when were apart if we throw our love away does that bring us back to the start time heals all wounds but i can't move my mouth is our flame not still their if seeing u it lights a spark.
Picture this after a thousand words said we still couldn't undersand what was in each others heads.
