

Dave Dudley, It's Not A Very Pleasant Day Today

Rain that hits the window on the outside hides the teardrops fallin' on the inside

A heart that has a sadder beat cause someone went away

It's not a very pleasant day today

Cloudy skies that make the moon so gloomy all alone it makes the room more roomy

The echo of your footsteps that seems to plainly say

It's not a very pleasant day today

Without the sun it makes my world seem chilly

Well it may be me and I guess that's kind of silly

It's over now and my mind somehow should make you go away

It's not a very pleasant day today

The wind that blows just seems to tell the story

It seems to say I'm wrong and now I'm sorry

You're all I have the weather's bad and it looks like it's here to stay

It's not a very pleasant day today it's not a very pleasant day today
