

David Bowie, The width of a circle

In the corner of the morning in the past I would sit and blame the master first and last
All the roads w