

David Phelps, Something's Gotta Change

I used to ride my bike down the street three miles
And no one ever thought about it twice
Cause everybody looked out for everybody else.
I was never ever, ever by myself.
Now its slippin away and
I need You to save me right now, right now.

Chorus

Somethings gotta change.
The beauty of the pain
Is that we do not stay the same
But we grow and we show
We are stronger than before.
When we reach for something more
And in the face of hate
Pour out love like rain.
Somethings gotta change.

I dont wanna be just another put-on.
Yeah, tell me where has my heart gone.
I need to believe faith isnt just a word
That I stutter to the hurt inside
I need to see it and be it
The realness of Jesus right now, right now.

Chorus

It could be beautiful and brand new
But only if its me hand in hand with You.

Chorus
