

DC Talk, Alibi

I'm trying hard to understand you
And your over-rated state of mind
Sometimes you try to move me to you
And make believe that it's all fine

You say you love, yes you do
But i know who I'm talking to
You left me so lonely and empety
And I don't need your alibis
Couse I can see through all your lies
But I don't need to live my life that way, no way

Every storm deserves an ending
And a break to peaceful skies
And every night I pray for my own mending

You say you love, yes you do
But i know who I'm talking to
You left me so lonely and empety
And I don't need your alibis
Couse I can see through all your lies
But I don't need to live my life that way, no way

Parading around like you're a superstar
Is that who you think you are
The higheryou go, yeah the harder you fall

You say you love, yes you do
But i know who I'm talking to
You left me so lonely and empety
And I don't need your alibis
Couse I can see through all your disguise
But I don't need to live my life that way, no way
