

Dead Man Ray, Authentic

Well never walk a dead end line
Or a bribed or a hyped or a limed one
Well always be there right in time
Were so cool that we dont mind
Well never speak in triple tongues
Of the wrongs of the ones we cant get to Well never envy anyone with a gun having fun in a fast car

Cause were so human, so common, so refined
Were always charming, disarming the clue
Always authentic, romantic, electric
Never excentric, three entric, bombastic

In love with silly answers and candy coated pulp
Were of our potential and silent bout our youth

Dont ever try to wake us up
From the dream I admit we aint dreaming Dont give in to a single doubt in a crowd that aint like you Dont ever have a second thought or a fourth or a fifth or a sixteenth
And always try to break the ice in a gaslit room on fire

Always authentic, the bright stars, the right cars
Always for rentals, the gentles, the true ones
Always authentic, fantastic, so drastic
We're so intriguing, fatiguing ourselves

We pile up our credentials
Our CV-gated smiles
We jump over your fences
Decide were just like you
Those systematic breakdowns are easy to explain
These daily deviations mislead us from the main

Were climbing up a rotten tree
And forget that we cut all the branches
We hide in artificial bush
And we joyride the render
Well always make a better deal
Never steal, never blink, never whisper
Well always try to please your dad not the youngest of your sisters

Cause were so human, so common, the greatest
We're always charming disarming the clue
Always authentic, the bright stars, the right cars
Always for rentals, the gentles, the true ones
Let's make a scandal, demented our fractals
Let's show the world were authentically cruel

With every flight thats cancelled
The calmer we remain
While waiting by the wrong gate
Authentics still our game