Dead To Fall, Master Exploder

Cursed by everyone I have known Lost control, now I'm alone I hate this about myself That you asked forgiveness And I watched you burn When every one of your promises falters and fails As I know they would I turn my back and go it alone, alone When it seems it can't get worse Burn it down, build it back I will never see things the way you do I cannot entertain the possibility of forgiveness There is no way I can just forgive and forget And for that I will be condemned and...