

Dealership, Forest

Let's go
And I'll play all my songs
Maybe one will make you strong
You never really know...
The other day I saved a king
Learned to use a sword and gave it a swing

In electronic forests
Of pixellated versions of what was once
A green and bold and happy paradise for us
But I can (oh I can, I can!) return it if you want me to
Just promise, though, you won't outgrow me

You know
To save your soul I'll die
You will be my princess
Even in disguise
And all the rocks will roll

In electronic forests
Of pixellated versions of what was once
A green and bold and happy paradise for us
But I can (oh I can, I can!) return it if you want me to Just promise, though, you won't outgrow me...
