

Dean Geyer, This World Won't Wait

Everything seems ok
His playing the perfect game
Everything is black and white
Leaving for a while

The silence is beautiful
At the centre of his whole world
No one is welcome in
The place is alone

When you feel the light surround you
Don't push the chance away
Close your eyes
And say you'll come with me
Realise
Maybe you're not alone in this
You won't know until you hold on tight
And begin to see
Realise this world wont wait for you and me
The world won't wait for you and me

She never asked for this
Craving for one last kiss
Captured in everyway
Broken and ashamed
A whisper came from within
So desperate so deafening

In the arms of her angels now and she knows

When you feel the light surround you
Don't push the chance away
Close your eyes
And say you'll come with me
Realise
Maybe you're not alone in this
You won't know until you hold on tight
And begin to see
Realise this world wont wait for you and me
The world won't wait for you and me

Just close your eyes

Close your eyes
And say you'll come with me
Realise,
Maybe you're not alone in this
You won't know until you hold on tight
And begin to see
Realise maybe your not alone in this
You won't know until you close your eyes
And say you'll come with me
Realise this world wont wait for you and me
The world won't wait for you and me
