

Dean Strickland, My Ex-Best Friend

Last night I had a dream
You'll never guess who was in it
It was the strangest thing
And lasted less than a minute

I don't remember the details
You know dreams are fuzzy
A beautiful girl I know
She walked up and hugged me

She smiled she cared
I was happy she was there
To reality I awakened
Again my heart was breaking

CHORUS:
I knew I'll never start caring
Regretting the things that I did
Oh, what a fool was the dreamer
Made her cry and what I
Call my Ex-Best friend

Subconsciously overwhelmed by what is tragic
Mesmerized by losing what was magic
Memories of the future
Without a sense of time
Leads to believe what i know is my positive self-talking mind

CHORUS

Clearly I can see it now
Though the smog the rain and clouds
Sharing friendship that won't end
Together we will be again

I'll never stop caring
Regretting the things that I did
Made her cry and what I
Call my Ex-Best friend

You'll never guess who was in it
It was the strangest thing
And lasted less than a minute

I don't remember the details
You know dreams are fuzzy
