

Deborah Gibson, Cry Tonight

D: Hey, I'm the one he left you for
Can I come in? 'cause the wolf is at my door
He said that it was you
Now that just don't ring true
Like it did when I thought he was mine
Please let me inside, oh...

CHORUS:

D: I just want to cry tonight
And I know you'll understand
How much I hurt inside
'cause I know that you know the man
I know he had his way with us
Aren't you afraid he stole your pride?
Out of sight isn't out of mind
So don't you want to cry tonight?

A: Hey did he say you hung the moon?
And you made it shine in a sky he never knew
Well I've got news for you
I hung the moon too
D: Ain't it funny how that moon turns blue
When there's someone new
A: Can't believe there's someone new

CHORUS:

A: I just want to cry tonight
D: Don't you wanna cry?
A: And I know you'll understand
All the hurt that I feel inside
'cause I know that you know the man
D: Yes I know that man
A: Though he had his way with us
D: Ooh yeah
A: So afraid that he stole my pride
D: Same with me
A: Out of touch isn't out of mind
D: Ooh
A: Don't you want to cry tonight?

Who would have thought
We'd be each other's shoulder to cry on Life sure holds the strangest surprises
And they're not always sweet, no

CHORUS:

D: I just want to cry tonight
A: I just want to cry
D: And I know you'll understand
A: How much I hurt inside
D: Oh I hurt inside
A: 'cause I know that you know the man
D: I know that man

I know he had his way with us
I'm so afraid that he stole my pride
Out of sight isn't out of mind
A: More than memories are left behind
D: Hey, don't you wanna cry tonight?

D: cry tonight
