

Deep Purple, Cascades: I'm Not Your Lover

You know I'm not your lover now it might as well be said and then you say you're leaving Or maybe I'm just hanging on a thread
When I gave you everything it didn't seem that much You gave me your opinion with the usual heavy handed touch
What can I do
About the rain that falls on you
I'm not your lover now
I'm not your lover now
What can I do
About the rain that falls on you
I'm not your lover now
I'm not your lover now
My head is spinning endlessly
My sense won't react Then I'm falling through a black hole Part of me is never coming back How you can lose a thing you never really had
And you always hurt the one you love and you just love to hurt me bad
What can I do
About the rain that falls on you
I'm not your lover now
I'm not your lover now
What can I do
About the sky that falls on you
I'm not your lover
You really must be going now
By god, is that the time?
Let me put you out of my misery
They call it being cruel to be kind
I only insult my friends
my friend
The rest can go to hell
You can read it anyway you want oh well, you're not so bad yourself
What can I do
I'm not your lover now
