WOOD WOULD

(Larry Kingston)

What would make this shell of house I live in seem like home
Wood would you could too if you would and wanted too
What would make this nicety shack more solid than stone
Wood would you could too if you would and wanted too

You could make the paint worth peeling
Stop that creepy leaky old ceiling
You could take the bow out of the rafters
And fill this empty house with happy laughter
What would make this shack of mine fine as a mansion on a hill
Wood would you could too if you would and say you will
What would keep that shivery quivery wind from blowing through
Wood would you could too if you would and wanted too
What would give these dreary old walls a homier brighter youth
Wood would you could too if you would and wanted too

You could make the paint worth peeling...
