

Delta Goodrem, Right There Waiting

Right There Waiting
Hey, what's the silence for?
Lost in the herd that hides your eyes,
Did you mean to run from me?
From the dreams, we have waited for,

I want you to take me there,
To The place that you cherished
Hope that light your world
Do I, do I, have to prove,
That I am here for you,
I hope you understand,

Since you have been away,
I have missed you so,
I can't wait to hold you
Have you back again
So if you stop and turn around
Then you'll see me
I'll be there searching
Right there waiting for you

What is the anger for?
Wait; please don't turn away from me
Looking into my life
You know, that it means everything to me

I want you to take me there,
To The place that you cherished
Hope that light your world
Do I, do I, have to prove,
That I am here for you,
I hope you understand,

Since you have been away,
I have missed you so,
I can't wait to hold you
Have you back again
So if we stop and turn around
Then you'll see me
I'll be there searching

No matter what you say
We'll get through each day
I am here to stay
If I need you there
Sometimes to weld
Then I'll be there
Since you have been away,
I have missed you so,
I can't wait to hold you
Have you back again
So if we stop and turn around
Then you'll see me

Since you have been away,
I have missed you so,
Have you back again
So if we stop and turn around
Then you'll see me

I'll be there searching
