

Demi Lovato, For You

Reasons why you ran don't make you a good man
Yes I understand
You were on time at the wrong time
I was debating but tried, and I don't know why
You can act cold on a dime and so out of line

For you, I'd do anything for you
Nail my heart to the ceiling
I'd put my fist through a wall
How come I stick around when I break down
I take the blows like a champion
But I get nothing at all

Reasons for my hope,
All make me a big joke
I already know, you were just fine, I was just fine
Why did we turn a good time to a dark night?
I'd give you a chance but the better man never called
