I have a new story to tell you,
It's good crack and chat over drink,
A fine lovely apple I put in my pocket
And all I found was a seed potato.

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again

I walked Clare Island and Carrig Aonor,

The bays of Bara Island were before me on the way,
Puinte na nGrige and Dorsa Maola,
The raven and the calf outside of Baoi.

I walked through Cualach because I was sad,
The northern parish and Eyeries,
On the Island of Muarseadh a young man told me
That I wouldnt get word of her until Id tied the knot

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again

I walked through Cobh and Baile na Mona,
Cather Tn T´ime and Sherkin Island
On the east coast someone told me
That I was the laughing stock of Nidn

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again

Oh sadly my eyes cry,
After that fine yellow apple,
And the lovely young woman who gave it to me
And I'd give a pound to taste again
