

Destiny, Spring In Winter

The needle that hurts my heart is getting deeper and deeper

This time so short seems to be infinite so long

But it's so beautiful

And this journey will find its end too

The circumstances even allow it to talk about feelings

Sometimes I think that my heart is filled with my hope and drowned in your compassion

Hopefully just a misunderstanding

Everything I want is inside of you

Everything I dream of lies in your heart

All of my dreams

And the night in your eyes there is a star that shines for me

And it hurts for a lifetime

Like an angel that holds and carries me

And love lets me fall

I stagger

My hand's embrace your body weak

I don't want to hurt you

Silence surrounds us

We look at each other

But our thoughts in this moment stay hidden

I die for you