

Devin Townsend, Spirits Will Collide

So they say,
You'll be ok
But words are not enough

Nobody remembered me
The words were not enough,

Calm yourself down
Don't you remember when we were young?
Don't you remember who I am? □ You're strong enough!

Dues to pay
Towards the way
Towards my friend, towards
Two must play
The foolish game
To war my friend to war!

So they rise: The 'fear and pain,' but this isn't how I am
Don't you forget that you are loved!
Don't you forget that you are them,
It's hard enough

Remember the flame in your heart burns strong
Remember and the spirit will collide

Remember! Together!

Remember in the end that death is not the end...

So we rise!
Receive the pain, but this isn't where this ends...
Don't you forget that you are perfect
Don't you forget just who we are
We're strong enough!

Wherever the flame in your heart burns strong,
We may not be brave so lets start
Remember and the spirits will collide!

Remember! Together!
Remember! Together!
Remember! Together!
Remember! Together!