

Diana Ah Naid, Forola

Every tree has your face
Though the water tried to erase your name
My dreams are just the same
I could be touched but it isn't like you
Find myself crying the night time through
Wish that my pillow could lie
Tell me your here by my side
How could I leave
I know you grieve for me
So many tears to remember the laughter you gave
Always on my mind like a book with one page
I didn't mean to treat you so cruel
I wasn't sure of what I was doing
Now it's all done, now it's all said
You know I felt the same as you did
You were so strong, I was so wrong
I can't believe my naivety
You kept your cool, I was a fool
Walk through the rain of stupidity
You were so strong
It all seems different now your gone
You went away so long
And now I know I was so wrong
You were so strong
It all seems different now your gone
You went away so long and now I know I was so wrong
