

Diana Krall, Why Should I Care

Was there something more i could have done?
Or was i not meant to be the one?
Where's the life i thought we would share?
And should i care?
And will someone else get more of you?
Will she go to sleep more sure of you?
Will she wake up knowing you're still there?
And why should i care?
There's always one to turn and walk away
And one who just wants to stay
But who said that love is always fair?
And why should i care?
Should i leave you alone here in the dark?
Holding my broken heart
While a promise still hangs in the air
Why should i care?
