

Diana Ross & The Supremes, Im Living In Shame

In And Out Of Love

Diana Ross & The Supremes

(Brian Holland/Lamont Dozier/Edward Holland, Jr.)

Keep falling in and out of love

In search for what I'm dreaming of

I long to find a love I'm sure about

That certain kind of love that moves all doubts

Keep falling in and out of love

Still searchin' for that special one

To whom I can give my love completely

And feel a lasting love so sweetly

Just when I feel sure love's here to stay

It seems to suddenly just fade away

Can't seem to find that everlasting love

That this heart of mine needs so much of

Keep falling in and out of love

Can't seem to find the lasting kind

It seems I can't find the joy I need

Love always somehow all goes wrong for me

Keep falling in and out of love

Keep falling in and out of love

I keep reaching out for tenderness

Touching a hand that holds emptiness

I'm looking for a love that lingers on

Long after that first kiss is gone

That kind of love that keeps burning bright

Long after we've said goodnight

Keep falling in and out of love

In search for what I'm dreaming of

Keep falling in and out of love...
