

Diana Ross, These boots are made for walking

You keep saying You got something for me something' you call love But confess You've been mes