Dickies, Dead Heat

put them up against the wall pull the trigger watch them fall they can only feel the pain stand them up and start again tell the sargeant what you saw fear the long arm of the law even though it's hanging there drugs and bad guys you'd better beware of dead heat they're dead heat if you shoot 'em down they'll be back on thier feet they're dead heat they're dead heat if you shoot 'em down they'll be back on the street take 'em down contempt divine (?) a cat that looks like frankenstein he's holding up a jewellery store listen to his bullets roar their job is done they're all alone they work their fingers to the bone they're weary as they walk their beat all day long they're dead on their feet they're dead heat they're dead heat certified zombies from their head to their feet they're dead heat they're dead heat if you shoot 'em down they'll be back on thier feet they're dead heat they're dead heat ? they're dead heat they're dead heat they show a lot of heart even though it don't beat
