

Dies Irae, Beyond All Dimensions

you, who come here abandon all the hope dare you look into the darkness? in the land that spreads from the edge of perception and the worst nightmares who are you to deny loathing? you feel as the black wind closes about you
with a lethal shroud it emerges from the very darkness to drain off your vital strength you are our strength, our might our breathing victuals here is the key to the afterworld dare you open those gates to find the winding path that leads through this realm undiscovered since the beginning of time face the beings from beyond all dimensions
them who bring insanity are you ready to kill or else this shall be your end