

Diesel Boy, Sleepy Soliloquy

Its almost three a.m. and I should be asleep
But instead I lie awake in my room and my head still hurts from the night before last
My only solace is thinking of you
Let me dream, give me peace
Let me fall fast asleep
Cuz I swear there will be time for you tomorrow
So I'm doing what I can to write you a song
But I am burned out and its late at night and I'm trying real hard to tear the words from my inside
But sometimes my pen just won't write
Keep me warm while I sleep
Safe and sound underneath the sheets
Cuz I swear there will be time for you tomorrow