Dinosaur Jr., Thumb

There never really is a good time There's always nothing much to say Pretty good, not doing that fine Getting up most every day Steppin' out, I tried to fix it Pulled a thumb out of that hole Give me ingredients, I'll mix it How can you move without a goal There never really is a good time There's always nothing much to say Pretty good, not doing that fine Getting up most every day An excuse is all you're in for The abuse is all you crave Sure you know just what is in store Wait and see if I'll behave There never really is a good time There's always nothing much to say Pretty good, not doing that fine Getting up most every day There's a time, just let me know now When it's with you I'll be glad That I was right there just to show you At least it's more than what you had There never really is a good time There never really is a good time There's always nothing much to say Pretty good, not doing that fine Getting up most every day
